TARIFF BILL HITS CANADA.

Cannot Buy Here Unless Able to Sell Goods.

Retaliatory Measure May be Enacted.

Trade Balance is Already Unfavorable.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Warnings by Canadian officials that Canada cannot continue to buy American goods in present quantities unless permitted to sell its products in this country more freely may have an influence in bringing about the enactment of a more liberal tariff measure than desired by some protectionists.

The recent annual financial statement by Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, to the Canadian Parliament, announcing the government's tax and tariff policies, is being closely studied by members of Congress in connection with the consideration of tariff legislation.

The Canadian Finance Minister pointed out that the unfavorable figures for the fiscal year ended on March 31 show that exports from Canada to the United States amounted to $542,314,458 of domestic and $1,379,342 of foreign product.

While imports from the United States to Canada amounted to $555,935,470, resulting in an unfavorable trade balance between the two countries of $295,929,672.

TARIFF WOULD HURT.
Passage of the emergency tariff bill by the United States Congress, the Canadian Finance Minister declared, would make the trade balance declared by the Canadian Finance Minister into a virtual prohibition of the importation into Canada of the United States of agricultural commodities which are still more unfavorable.

Although Canadian industries are relieved from a burdensome business profits tax under the measure which has just become effective in Canada.

Canada, thereby giving them a possible advantage over some similar American industries which still are struggling under war-time taxes, yet the Canadians see little hope of even holding their present American markets, in view of the emergency tariff bill, and the permanent tariff measure to follow it.

The concern of members of Congress who are interested in the development of foreign trade lies not so much in the effect of a high tariff upon Canadian products as in the possibility that the curtailment in this direction will lessen the power of Canada to purchase American goods.

CANADA MAY RETALIATE.
Not only might an increased unfavorable balance of trade make it more difficult for Canada to finance purchases of American goods, but it would lead necessarily to a revision of the Canadian tariff.

As the situation now stands, the House Ways and Means Committee is likely to report out early next month a permanent tariff bill with high protective duties which will include a provision for the repeal of the Canadian Reciprocity Act.

The new measure is effective because of failure of Canada to ratify it. It is considered doubtful that a provision for a bargaining tariff under which the President would be authorized to make concessions or impose penalties in the event of unfavorable or unfavorable treatment by other nations will be included in the bill.

PLAN LEAGUE TO STABILIZE THE DOLLAR.

Business Men, Bankers and Economists to Have Conference in Capital.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, May 22.—An important conference of bankers, business men and economists to discuss means for checking the great upheavals and depressions of the price level, which play havoc with business at intervals, is scheduled to take place in Washington next Saturday.

Over 100 prominent men will attend the conference out of which is expected to grow a nationwide movement, to be known as "the stable money league," and whose purpose will be to stabilize the purchasing power of the dollar.

The list of proponents of the league contain such well-known names as these: Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois; George Foster Peabody, director of the Federal Reserve Bank, New York; Alton B. Parker, former Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals of New York; Irving Fisher of Yale University; J. R. Commons, former president

NEW CUBAN PRESIDENT PLEADS FOR ECONOMY.

IT COMES AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.
HAVANA, May 22.—Draconic financial measures, looking to economy in governmental administration, constitutional reforms, including election of the President by direct vote, and methods by which the government can add banking institutions to rise from chaos to normalcy are included in recommendations which President Alfredo Zayas, inaugurated yesterday, made in his first message to Congress, delivered yesterday.

Economy measures include reduction of the proposed budget for the fiscal year, beginning July 1, from approximately $134,000,000 to between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000.

FREIGHT RATE
CUT EXPECTED.Action Will Follow Lowering of Wage Scale.Government Will Act if Roads Delay Reduction.Hoover Stresses Need of Aid for Farmers.

BY ROBERT D. ARMSTRONG.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—While there is a distinct feeling in Washington that, following the wage increase in unskilled labor on the railroads effective July 1, there will be a voluntary reduction in freight rates, especially on fruits and vegetables on the West Coast, there is likewise a disposition to regard this as insufficient.

If the railroads do not reduce the rates promptly, action will undoubtedly be taken by the Interstate Commerce Commission to lower these rates in line with the hearings recently conducted at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Yakima, Wash., and Boise, Idaho.

Such action is expected shortly after the first of July unless the railroads beat the government to it.

GENERAL CURE NEEDED.

This action, however, is but a part of a general cure that is absolutely necessary to put the business of food production back on its feet. A comprehensive saving in marketing, government collection of available supply and distribution, as well as a system of financing by which the farmer can store such staples as grain products and livestock, against warehouse certificates, will be necessary before the farmer gets on a basis with other industries of the country.

In discussing the possibilities of a general reform, permanently and broadly improving the condition of all farm and food producers, Secretary Hoover gave an enlightening survey of the subject to Senator Capper, who is one of the leaders in the movement to eliminate the food producers from periodical periods of depression and unscientific distribution and marketing of these products.

SHOWS DISADVANTAGES.

Secretary Hoover graphically showed the disadvantage of the food producer when he stated the following typical figures—100 bushels of wheat, the standard of 1911:

Farm crop prices, 115.
Farm meat, 125.
Wholesale index, all commodities, 125.
Building materials, 212.
Household goods, 275.
Clothing, 192.
Fuel and light, 267.
Railway rates, 164.
Building trade wages (skilled), 125.

"Certainly these levels must come into step or the agricultural industry and its standards of living will be undermined," added Secretary Hoover, who continued:

EXPORT MARKET FACTOR.

"A large factor in this abnormal disproportion of levels is the situation in our largest export market, in the matter of food, through the arrangements by governments and shippers and through partial agricultural recovery, there is no starvation in Europe, outside, Bolshevik Russia. There is a tremendous demand for large masses of people all the way from 10 per cent to 80 per cent below normal.

"Our exports of food are less than would be the case if their standards of living were nearer normal. The recovery of this normal through their industrial recuperation is slower than need be if we were in position to mobilize long-term credits for the disposal of some of our food and raw material surplus.

"Our domestic difficulties in providing such credits are greatly enhanced by the lack of confidence in the fiscal stability of the dollar and the many European states, and the failure to attain peace, and the failure to expand our credit possibilities must be delayed, at least in part, until these things are attained.

ELIMINATE WASTE.

"Entirely apart from the whole question of domestic economic readjustments and the foreign situation is the possibility of constructive waste in the marketing system of food products, for this bears directly upon the farmers' return. I think we may adopt as an economic axiom that the price of major agricultural products is made at points on the American seaboard or abroad by competition with foreign-produced food. It follows, therefore, that an increase in cost of transportation of food from the farmer to this point of price determination is a reduction from the farmer's return, or, inversely that any savings made are an increase in the return to the farmer.

"The largest single item in marketing is transportation. I am convinced that the horizontal increase in railway rates have produced great inequalities in our various industries and that one of the chief causes of our agricultural depression is the inequality in the transportation of food from the farmer to the point of price determination. It follows, therefore, that a reduction in cost of transportation of food from the farmer to this point of price determination is a reduction from the farmer's return, or, inversely that any savings made are an increase in the return to the farmer.

STUPENDOUS TASK.

"This may indeed be a stupendous task, but the whole rate structure and commercial fabric of the United States have been built up on a rough conception of rates commensurate with values, with mitigation of this theory by competition and rates designed originally to stimulate local industry. We are in a fair way to re-erect the whole commercial and industrial geography of the country in consequence of the present rate basis.

"In improving the methods of marketing I believe that the largest measure of improvement must take place by the initiative of the farmers themselves, and I welcome their steps toward co-operation. Whether or not their efforts lead to a national food marketing board under the chairmanship of the Secretary of Agriculture, using the Bureau of

NATIONAL FOOD BOARD.

"There are some government aids in marketing that I have long believed are most desirable. My proposals were to create a national food marketing board under the chairmanship of the Secretary of Agriculture, using the Bureau of

DEALS :: OUT :: THE :: WEATHER
Chief of U. S. Bureau is Reappointed.

Dr. Charles F. Marvin, who has been one of the chief actors in a controversy over the effects of sun spots upon the weather. The discussion came about because a large sun spot 84,000 miles long and 21,000 miles wide had been discovered on the face of the sun. Dr. George H. Peters, solar expert at the Naval Observatory, is of the opinion that the spots have some bearing upon weather disturbances, but Dr. Marvin maintains that they have nothing whatever to do with it.

DECLINE IN COST OF LIVING IS REVEALED.SURVEY SAYS FALL OF 17.5 PER CENT RECORDED SINCE
JULY, 1920.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, May 22.—A report made public yesterday by the National Industrial Conference Board shows that the total cost of living has fallen 17.5 per cent since July, 1920, but in March, 1921, was 63.7 per cent higher than in July, 1920. Costs of clothing are shown to have decreased and rent and cost of fuel and light to have increased since last year.

This analysis of changes in the cost of living in the United States is based upon material gathered from a large number of representative retail dealers in clothing, furnishings and food, and from persons representing interests in many sections of the country in connection with rents and car fares.

The total increase in the cost of living since the beginning of the war, the investigation shows, was 63.7 per cent in March, 1921. The rise of the cost of major items of the budget, war-wearers between July, 1914, and March, 1921, is estimated to have been as follows:

Food, 56 per cent; shelter, 71 per cent; clothing, 74 per cent; fuel and light, 87 per cent; amusements, 85 per cent.

The report shows that the peak was reached in July, 1920. Since then the total cost of living has decreased 17.5 per cent. Food has decreased 29 per cent; clothing, 35; while shelter has increased 5 and fuel and light 13 per cent, no change having taken place in the cost of amusements.

RICH WOMAN BURGLAR
TAKEN TO SANITARIUM.HUSBAND OFFERS TO REIM-BURSE VICTIM'S WIFE'S ROBBERIES.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

CHICAGO, May 22.—Search for further victims of robberies believed to have been executed by Mrs. Etta Heil, wife of a millionaire banker and broker, and "burglar-maid," whose loot, the police believe, will total more than $40,000, today was continued by the police.

Mrs. Heil is expected to be booked tomorrow. Four of the robbery victims, who have identified part of their property, have signed complaints against her.

Mrs. Heil, according to relatives, has been taken to a North Shore sanitarium for treatment. Physicians declare she is on the verge of a complete mental breakdown.

Heil today reiterated his offer to reimburse in cash all those who have suffered through his wife's operations.

"She was irresponsible," he said. "She did not know what she was doing."

PRESIDENT ENJOYS TRIP ON MAYFLOWER.

(BY A. P. MONT WHEAT.)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The Presidential yacht Mayflower, with President Harding and party aboard, was reported sixty miles north of Cape Charles light at noon today in a radio message. Perfect weather was said to prevail.

The yacht is due at New York tomorrow. A message signed by Secretary Christian, received at 10:30, said the yacht was off Barnegat with "all well; perfect weather."

RAIL HEADS TO CONTINUE STORYSenate Committee to Reopen
Hearing Today.Lower Rates and Revival of Business Necessary.Must Go Together to Bring Relief and Prosperity.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The third week of the investigation by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee into the railroad situation will be entered upon tomorrow with representatives of the railroads still presenting their views of why they are not making any money.

The entire week probably will be given over to railroad testimony. At the rate the hearing has been progressing it is regarded as probable that the railroad situation will be considered by the committee by the end of the week.

The main aspects of the situation as viewed from the railroad standpoint during the course of the hearings, the testimony of the committee by Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the executive board of the Southern Pacific and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, having covered that ground, the testimony will be largely statistical details supporting the main contentions of the railroads already developed.

LOWERING OF EXPENSES.

The railroads have shown why their revenues have not been sufficient to meet their expenses, and that the railroad problem as it exists today centers around a reduction in operating expenses and a revival in business. It has been made evident that a revival in business alone would not improve the condition of the railroads materially. The two factors it has been developed, must go together.

Several members of the Senate committee, notably Senators Townsend and Pomeroy, have indicated during the course of the hearings that they believe a reduction in rates might send the roads on their way back to normal. The railroad executives, however, have rejected that theory. They stand on the proposition that the increased rates made operative last summer did not bring about the business depression and are not preventing a resumption of business.

OTHER FACTORS.

Other factors far more controlling than the freight rate charges in their opinion brought about the widespread depression.

The railroads, as indicated by the testimony of the executives who thus far have been heard, are planning their hope to the revival in business and a sound readjustment downward of operating expenses.

They are calling for remedial legislation and there probably is no legislation that would do them any good unless the increased rates put through Congress at this time.

The attitude of the members of the Senate investigating Committee almost without exception has been sympathetic toward the railroads and considerable antipathy to Federal operation of railroads has been displayed. The only member of the committee who may be characterized as "antirailroad" is Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. He has been present at the hearings only a part of the time and has not indulged in examination of the witnesses, although in the hearing he indicated he would examine Kruttschnitt.

NURSES IN DEMAND.

County Wants Sixty; Examinations
Postponed Until June.

Graduate nurses are in demand by the county to fill sixty positions. Salaries range from $9 to $15 a month, with full maintenance and splendid living conditions. Graduate nurses seeking employment are asked to call at once at the office of the Los Angeles Civil Service Commission for information and application. The examination for these sixty positions has been postponed from next Wednesday until June 15. Registered graduate nurses will be approved in oral interview with further written examination. Those not registered must complete the written test.

MARINE ENGINEERS
AGAINST SETTLEMENT.UNIONS IN NEW YORK REJECT
PLAN ARRANGED BY SEC-RETARY DAVIS.

(BY A. P. MONT WHEAT.)

NEW YORK, May 22.—Proposals of Federal mediators looking to a settlement of the marine strike, in effect since May 1, were unanimously rejected at a meeting today of Local 33 and 80 of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association.

The meeting was called to hear a report of the committee which had been in conference with Secretary Davis at Washington, and as a result of which it was reported, a possible basis of settlement had been reached. The proposals arrived reported to involve acceptance of a reduction in wages and the granting of concessions as to overtime.

T. B. Healy and B. L. Todd, union representatives, declared no vote was taken. They added that it was necessary, as the discussion showed the men were unanimous.

Secretary Davis, who arrived Tuesday, succeeded in having President Raymond and Vice-President W. L. Martin of the American Steamship Owners Association, consent to another conference in Washington Tuesday, May 23.—The Portuguese Cabinet resigned yesterday.

FATHER KILLED, SON IS FATALLY INJURED.

STOCKTON, May 22.—James A. White of Fresno was killed and his son, Charles E. White, was probably fatally injured today when a truck on which they were riding was struck by Southern Pacific train No. 36, at a crossing one and one-half miles south of Lathrop. The body of the father, who was accompanying his son, who was transporting a pipe organ from Fresno to San Francisco, was terribly mangled, the head being severed from the trunk.

Young White was taken to a hospital at Modesto, where, at last report, he was unconscious. The truck was demolished and the organ shattered into splinters.

The accident occurred at the same crossing where the Wolf party from Fresno met with an accident several weeks ago and in which several were killed.

COMPETITION AIDS MARKET.

Farmers, However, Seem to Fear Action.

Active Buying Sends May Wheat Soaring.

Grain Growers Go Ahead With Pooling Plan.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

(Exclusive Dispatch.)

CHICAGO, May 22.—Removing grain market competition through legislative enactments seems to be the main object for which the farm organizations are working, according to statements by their leaders. Whether it can be accomplished successfully is a question. Without competition there would be no life to trade in grain or in other commodities.

Leaders in the grain trade are asking why the farmers' leagues fear competition, why they avoid putting their co-operative schemes into force in the open market.

If the schemes are sound and economically better than existing methods, they would drive competitors out and force a change to the new methods. Reports from various sections indicate the United States Grain Growers' Inc. are going ahead with their pooling plans. From Fargo, N. D., they report that $6,000,000 bushels of wheat to be raised in Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon have been pooled in the farmers' organization.

KEEPS MARKET ALIVE.

The grain trade had a good illustration of the effects of speculative markets and of the workings of the Chicago market as the world's grain clearinghouse last week. The effect of short selling was clearly demonstrated by the advances. Comparatively few people outside of the grain trade comprehend the real benefits of short selling and its effect on the market. It creates both a seller and a buyer and goes further toward making a big market and keeping it alive than any other system.

MAY WHEAT ADVANCES.

May wheat advanced from $1.43 to $1.46 1/4 last week, showed an advance of 3-4 cents from the point of the high point during the war. July advanced 27 cents from the lowest point and within 1 cent of the season's high.

Expectations are that stocks of wheat, corn and oats here will show a decrease for the week. The future course of wheat value is largely dependent upon weather conditions in the Southwest and over the greater part of the country. Continued hot and dry weather in the Southwest will reduce yields of wheat and oats.

As the short interest has been cut down good weather and a move for profits by leading holders must cause a sharp decline. The market, still drained at the last, as Chicago May wheat is the highest of the country. But it is not expected any quantity of price will be brought here for delivery on May sales.

SHORT INTEREST UNKNOWN.

No one has any definite idea what the shorts in May wheat are, while the long are seaboard exporters who want the cash grain. The advance in wheat price is remarkable when it is considered that conditions from a speculative standpoint were largely adverse. Speculators have been speculating in wheat and have resulted in declining prices. Deterioration of the winter wheat crop in the Southwest with greatly reduced estimates and small losses in parts of the Central West, combined with light stocks everywhere, lack of pressure of cash wheat, and fair export buying effort all depressing influences and brought in a large run of buyers at the last, making a strong, broad, advancing market, with the highest prices well held at the close.

MORE MACHINERY NEEDED IN JAPAN.

(A. F. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT.)

OSAKA (Japan) April 8.—Machinery that will enable Japan to increase production, to give lucrative employment to more people, to improve the standards of living and to lessen the burden of taxation is what, in the opinion of Osaka business men and industrial managers, Japan needs. Every possible effort is being made in Western Japan to impress on the people the wisdom of cutting down armaments and the folly of indulging in expensive martial preparations against invisible foes.

The trade association in the Kansai district held a meeting to discuss disarmament. A resolution in favor of disarmament was passed.

MAY DRIVE NAILS IN HINDENBURG

American Dickerling to Buy Famous Wooden Statue of German General.

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

BERLIN, May 22.—Among the bidders for the famous Hindenburg colossal wooden statue, into which the former Kaiser drove a gold nail and the common German Iron ones, is an American who offers 20,000 marks for it.

Otto Butzke, the owner of the statue, who offered it for sale in whole or in part, informed The Times correspondent that he had received requests for portions of it. Many wanted to use bits of the statue for firewood, but, inasmuch as the press strongly attacked such action as sacrilegious, Herr Butzke declared he would only sell it complete.

The American who is seeking to buy the statue says he wants it to let Americans drive nails into it again at 25 cents a nail, half of the price at which it was sold to the American Legion and the other half to the Red Cross.

BELIEVE MAIL BANDIT HAS ELUDED POSSES.

ROY GARDNER HIDING IN SACRAMENTO AFTER ESCAPE FROM MOUNTAINS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SACRAMENTO, May 22.—Roy Gardner, believed to have robbed a Southern Pacific mail car near Newcastle Friday night and who was reported surrounded by posers in a canyon near Lincoln, has eluded the pursuers and is now hiding in Sacramento, in the opinion of local officers, expressed late today.

A report was received at the office of Sheriff Ellis Jones that two men, one of whom answered the description of the bandit, had driven a truck this morning to a point between Sacramento and Roseville and abandoned it on the highway.

Later in the day a report was received at the sheriff's office that a man answering the description of the bandit was seen purchasing a ticket at the stage depot in Norwalk. Local officers are puzzled to know what could have been the bandit's object in rifling the sacks, since he had in some manner been able to get away with the money.

"KOPPENTER" ENJOYS LIFE.

French Pug Goes Fishing in the Morning.

Disports in the Ring Today for Critics.

Deschamps Clothes His Boxer With Secrecy.

BY RAY PEARSON.

(Exclusive Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, May 22.—There wasn't any workout for Georges Carpentier at his Manhattan camp today. Instead, he passed the day in enjoying life. In the morning Carpentier, or "Koppenter," as Manager Francois Deschamps calls him, went fishing in the bay. No catches of importance were reported. He was accompanied by Captain Mallet, American representative for the Carpentier forces.

When the afternoon rolled around Georges was greeted by a visitor in the person of Joe Jack Coogan. "The Kid" passed a couple of hours with the European champion. A motor ride followed the visit and in the evening, Carpentier being accompanied on the hike by Paul Journee, his sparring partner, and Trainer Gus Wilson.

CURIOUS OUT.

Hempstead Turnpike, one of the popular drives of the countryside, on which the Carpentier camp is pitched, was black with motor cars this afternoon. Why these motorists chose Hempstead in easy of answer, but if the occupants of the cars expected to catch a glimpse of the famed Frenchman they were disappointed. Georges was not on "exhibition," even at a distance of 100 yards.

As the day approached, and it will be here tomorrow, for "Koppenter" to disport for the benefit of those who are seeking the answer to the question of his whereabouts, it is to be expected that a number of automobiles will be parked along the turnpike to watch the fight.

The image shows a document page with a high-contrast, black and white appearance. The top portion is white, showing faint, illegible text. The bottom portion is a solid black horizontal band, likely representing a redacted area or a scanning artifact. The overall quality is poor, with significant noise and artifacts.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document, likely a page from a binder. On the right side, there is a series of white circular punch holes, suggesting it was part of a ring-bound notebook or folder. The document itself is dark and appears to have some text or markings, but they are not legible due to the low resolution and the way the strip is cut. The background is a light, textured surface.

WOMEN STREAM INTO YOSEMITE

More Than Thousand Attend Club Convention.

California Leads Country Federation Growth.

New Officers on Ticket Annual Conclave.

BY MYRA NYE (SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT)

Yosemite, May 22.—A merry, yet angry Merced River came out of Yosemite Valley, so young the club women, more than a thousand, all over the state, streamed into the valley. They were here because of the annual convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

From Sonoma to San Diego, the women of the state came to the annual convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

The convention, which was held at the Yosemite Hotel, was the largest ever held in the state.

No Excuse for Conditions Such as "The Times" Describes, Says Police Commissioner Wilson.

*****

There can be no excuse whatever for the existence of conditions such as you described in the handbook places along Spring street and in that vicinity," was the statement made to The Times last night by Police Commissioner Wilson.

"If such things exist, if gambling can be carried on in broad daylight and in such a manner, something must be wrong somewhere. The whole situation is extremely interesting."

Commissioner Wilson declared further that at no time did the Board of Police Commissioners make any suggestions that could be construed by anyone to mean the relaxation of vigilance on any line of vice and crime suppression.

"Ivy will-o'-the-wisp, otherwise, and green tables held the center of interest in the Los Angeles gambling world yesterday."

WOMAN :: WINS :: HIGH :: POST.

Now is Vice-President of Loan Concern.

*****

Miss Margaret N. Stevens.

BETWEEN the large part she has taken in the upbuilding of the institution during the past seven years, Miss Margaret N. Stevens has been elected vice-president and a director of the Mutual Building and Loan Association of Long Beach with assets of nearly $3,000,000.

Miss Stevens is the daughter of the late W. S. Stevens, who at the time of his death two weeks ago was the president of the Mutual Building and Loan Association of Long Beach with assets of nearly $3,000,000.

Miss Stevens, who is not yet 30 years of age, entered the employ of the institution seven years ago as a stenographer. For the past three years she has been assistant secretary.

When the directors met last week to fill the vacancy on the directorate left by the death of her father, they made Miss Stevens a director and also elevated her to the position of vice-president of the company because of her thorough understanding of the nature of the business of the growing concern and her rare business ability.

Succeeding the late W. S. Stevens, Charles A. Wiley, until recently president of the Mutual Building and Loan Association, was elected president of the company. The other officials are E. Norton, the other vice-president, and Charles H. Tucker, secretary.

PIONEER'S SON DIES.

Hippolyte Vignes, prominent fruit merchant, is called.

Hippolyte Vignes, prominent fruit merchant, died yesterday at his home, 2017 Lafrance street, at the age of 48 years. He had been ill for some time. Funeral services will be conducted in the Pierce Bros. mortuary at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

The father of Mr. Vignes was perhaps the first Frenchman to settle in Los Angeles, having come here from Bordeaux in 1850.

He was a careful buyer and he had decided to take the suit. As the salesman made out the slip this customer remarked, "I never see more advertising that it guarantees its suits, how's that?"

The salesman, who has been with many years, replied smilingly, "The reason we do not talk about guaranteeing to take back unsatisfactory clothes is the same reason why a bank does not guarantee to take back lead quarters—it isn't."

The People and Their Daily Troubles

Elizabeth Jordan's Column. BEAUTY'S SECRETS.

THE manicure was working over her client's nails and as she worked she prattled, as is the way of manicures. "I'm sorry you don't like your nails tinted," she began, reluctantly replacing the bottle of crimson fluid she had so confidently lifted from the table. "All the ladies like their nails tinted. You see, the tint is what shows you just how your nails are manicured. Any lady can keep her nails nice and even, and the manicure showing, if she tends to 'em regular. But she ain't apt to tint the nails and finger tips herself—so the tint's a pretty good proof she has just been to the beauty parlor."

MY LADY'S PADS.

The client murmured something to the effect that she did not care to have the public know she visited beauty parlors. The manicure looked shocked.

"Why every lady goes to beauty parlors nowadays," she exclaimed. "It shows she takes care of her looks. Everyone knows that it's a disgrace for a lady not to take care of her looks—if she's got any to take care of," she darkly added. "Of course, if she hasn't, it don't matter what she does, poor thing. But if you could know what some ladies do!"

She passed, polished a nail and then went on with growing interest. "You've seen Miss B. on the screen, ain't you?" she said. "Well, she was in here for a manicure the other day. Miss B. wasn't quite ready to take her, so I let down her hair to get her ready. And what do you think I saw? She had her face lifted."

THAT "LIFTED" FACE.

"You don't mean it," she said. "Yes, I do," insisted the manicure, rattled with her effect. "When I raised her hair on the sides the first thing I saw was the two little scars the surgeons make when they cut out the triangles near the temples, and lift up the skin and sew it together. I guess she had a double chin—perhaps her cheeks were beginning to sag. Anyway she had had it done."

"And she can't be a day more than 34," mused the client. "No, she can't," agreed the manicure. "But just the same she's had about everything done to her that can be done. She has had her eyebrows drawn out with tweezers, except the little thin line that is so stylish now, and she has had the shape of her nose changed impressively—she's done the latest, too!"

"What is the latest?" asked the customer with languid interest.

"That LAMOU DROOP," she said. "Why, it's to have the eyelids treated so that they droop a little, it gives kind of a languorous air," she ended pensively.

The client laughed. "I don't think I should care to look 'languorous,'" she admitted. "Neither would I," said the manicure. "It don't suit my style. But the vamps like it."

She laid down the finished hand and looked at the client critically. "You really ought to have your eyebrows excised and shaped, madame," she said, suggestively. "Ladies are wearing more brows than they did six months ago, but you got twice as much as you ought to have. And excuse me, you're showing just a little too much of your ears."

The customer looked interested. "I thought women were wearing their ears, now," she said. "No, madame, only just the lower part of the lobes. Of course, it ain't the thing to cover them all up, any more, like it was when you're showing half of yours, and that's all wrong."

"Thank you," said the client, humbly. She picked up a mirror and drew the side locks of her hair a little lower over the offending ears. The manicure viewed her approvingly.

"That's right," she said. "If you ain't in the mode you might as well be dead. And now, can't I sell you some of these new artificial eyelashes that paste on to the eyelids? All the ladies wear them, and they're only 10 cents."

years. He might go even further and say the most sensible in hundreds of years. All this raging about the indecency of feminine attire is nothing but a habit. There has never been a time when certain people, for want of something else to get excited over, went into hysterics over the "immodest fashions." Who would go back to the tunic and the sweeping heavy skirts of a generation ago? Women of the present day have room to breathe and room to take a step. They do not sweep up skirts with their skirts, and we agree with our reverend visitor that the sight of a woman's leg is no more demoralizing than the sight of a man's leg.

CLEMENCE MARGARET WHITMAN.

Cost of War.

PASADENA, May 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The very excellent and timely editorial in your issue of May 17th on the Smith-Towner Federal education bill makes very plain the need for more and greater attention to general education in the United States on the part of the national government. The California Federation of Women's Clubs, the League of Women Voters and other women's organizations have passed resolutions urging the passage of the measure. I am sure they are grateful to you for your careful exposition and hearty support of the bill.

The sentence with which you close your editorial, "The only question is, where is the money coming from?" is well put. The heavy burden of another editorial which discussed why the United States should take the lead in calling a conference looking toward reduction of armaments.

The United States Bureau of Standards has analyzed the United States appropriations for 1920 as follows:

Past wars, $2,855,482,586, 68 per cent; future wars, $1,424,138,475, 45 per cent; civil departments, $1,151,087,225, 3 per cent; public works, $188,393,557, 3 per cent; education and science, $17,028,661, 1 per cent.

The Bureau of Standards has also estimated that during the last four years every man, woman and child in the United States has contributed directly or indirectly $136.32 to support the Army and Navy. With these figures in mind and taking into consideration the enormous sums needed for reconstruction, it is safe to say that no country in the world is so rich it can afford to waste its resources. Because the United States is of all nations in the best condition financially; because of its natural geographic security which would make an attack so difficult, it has nothing to fear from all other peoples and also because since the armistice it has made it clear that it desires to take nothing from them, it is best fitted to take enlightened leadership and show the world the better way to provide insurance against future wars.

Why does the United States need to make an appropriation of $286,000,000 at this time for naval expenditure? Why do we need the largest navy in the world? War with Great Britain is inconceivable. That nation is bound to us by the strongest ties of race, language and common interests. It is inconceivable that England would join Japan in a war against us, and Japan alone is in no position to make war on this nation even if it so wished. GRACE C. SIMONS.

Question: When is Father's Day, and who originated the idea?

H. B. P. Answer: The third Sunday in June has been set aside as Father's Day. Mrs. John Bruce Dodd was the founder of this day and the Y.M.C.A. and Ministerial Association of Spokane, Wash., brought her idea to the attention of the people throughout the country. Father's Day was first celebrated in Spokane in 1910, and proved such a success that in 1914, Congress recognized Father's Day as a national institution. A colored rose is worn for a living father and a white one for one who is dead.

Q: Was "Faithful Emily" a real or fictitious character?

R. E. K. A.: Emily Faithfull was an English philanthropist, born at Headley Rectory, Surrey, in 1835. An advocate of remunerative employment for women, she did much to secure it for them. She founded a printing establishment—the Victoria Press—in London in 1860 in which she employed women as compositors. This undertaking met with great opposition, but Queen Victoria showed her approval by appointing Miss Faithfull "Publisher in ordinary to Her Majesty." She visited America in 1872-73 and in 1882; was the founder of the Victoria Magazine and wrote "Three Visits to America." She died at Manchester, Eng., May 31, 1895.

PERTINENT PULPIT PARAGRAPHS.

DR. HERBERT BOOTH SMITH,
IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN.

"The two-fold question of our text lets us close in to the heart of Christ. The world and the church are still facing the Master's question today. A few years ago a discerning writer in one of our leading church papers said that the great battle of the future would rage about the person of Christ. He was right. The importance of what Christ said depends entirely on who He is. If He was just a man, then today He is only a dead visionary—a married enthusiast; but if He was God, then His words are final and authoritative. Why do we believe in the deity of Christ?"

"Because of the explicit intimations and predictions of the Old Testament. The Old Testament incarnations are prophecies or foreshadowings of the New Testament incarnations whom we know as Jesus of Nazareth, son of Mary and son of God. Christ in both testaments is the speaker or revealer of all truth from the Godhead and the universal Christ is applied to Him in the New Testament which is used to translate the word Jehovah in the Old Testament. How can you read your Old Testament and not find Jesus in it?"

"We believe in the deity of Christ because He himself affirmed His deity. He claimed to be divine. He used the great divine title, 'I am,' which none but the Jews' Jehovah had ever used. He claimed to give life to the eternally self-existent one. He asserted His identity with the Father and coupled His own name with the name of God in the baptismal formula which the church has used ever since. He claimed to exercise the chief prerogative of God himself, which was the forgiveness of sins. He claimed omniscience, omnipresence and omniscience. I find Him making good every claim. He even made and hence, when He claims to be God, I must believe Him."

"We believe in the deity of Christ because of the testimony of the New Testament. Practically all of the New Testament books were written in the first century. These writers were pretty close to the character they describe and they all were giving titles to Christ. The testimony of other New Testament writers is echoed by the very brethren of our Lord, who at first positively refused to recognize His unique claims. The New Testament ascribes to Him titles, attributes, works, words and worship to Christ and offers the same adoration to Him which it gives to God."

"We believe in the deity of Christ because of the answer of Christian experience. This argument is entirely independent of written testimony and is confined to personal experience. One of the things the twentieth century is doing is to elevate its rightful place the findings of Christian experience. Jesus is a problem in personality. No man can rightly pass on the character of Jesus Christ by trying to work Him out on paper. Martin Luther said: 'The man who knows Christ that Christ has taken away from him all his sin, death and devil. He has truly recognized Christ as the Son of God.' There you have it—the answer of Christian experience, the response of one personality to another. The Lord of the world is with them that fear Him, and Jesus reveals Himself to His own in a way He does not to the world. Christ is the central factor in Christianity."

"We believe in the deity of Christ because of the well-known universal testimony and response of the world to His claims. The evidence is cumulative. You must take all that has been said and weave it into a composite picture. It may not be a complete certainty, but it gives strong probability that Jesus of Nazareth was more than a great preacher and healer, more than a martyr, more than a man. No one professes or class or race can claim Him. O Universal Man, Thou must be more than man!"

REV. DAN A. TRUNDLE,
ALVARADO CHRISTIAN.

"In the 'new world,' wherein dwelleth righteousness—of divine promise—the task of the hand will be as Christ as the truth of the heart. The heart cannot long remain Christian if the task of the hand is pagan. Men and nations have discovered that they cannot rise to lofty altitudes while neglecting the training of the lower nature. But no man nor society of men can hope long to remain risen if they neglect the lower nature. The heart is not safe so long as the stomach is in jeopardy. The Jesus teaches the great lesson of 'The Good Samaritan' upon the occasion of physical suffering and need. This new world will be reconstructed industrially, commercially, socially, politically and religiously."

"These phases of human interest are as the members of the human frame. No man is well so long as any member of his body is ill at ease. Imagine a man leaning well while a carbuncle adorns his neck! The East fell asleep to the chiming of medieval temple bells. Now she wakes to the scream of the factory siren, the roar of modern machinery, the rumble of train and tractor, the booming of dynamite in her once alien mountains. Far seeing gospel prophets take the opportunity offered for human service to bring to child races not only their immediate needs, but their highest and greatest need."

"In ministering to them in the most urgent present want they gain their confidence and so lead them to greater things. Soap first, then salvation; play, then prayer; work, then worship; modern machinery and with it many morals; cleanliness also godliness; mastery through service, a new heaven via the new earth and not man-made gods, but God-made men will be the result of the whole gospel for the whole world."

DR. BRUCE BROWN,
THE WHITE TEMPLE.

"In marriage, woman often, as of old, offers her sacrifice at the altar. A pair of blinders would often be better than a bouquet for a bride. 'When a man falls in love at first sight he had better remember that some time he may get his second sight.' A dream of a bonnet may mean a nightmare when the bill is received. An obituary read, 'He had been married for forty years and was ready to die.' 'If a man is determined to smoke it is better for him to smoke at home than in the club or pool hall. It is better for a wife to have her curtains discolored than to have her hopes yellowed and withered. A woman has no right to scold about faults after marriage that she condoned before marriage. The best room in the house ought to be for the use of the ones we love the best. 'It is mighty little that the ordinary good woman knows about the temptations that are in the path of the ordinary good man, or the storms of passion that beat and break in his breast like the waves on a rock-bound coast. 'A man, who is married, who will make a good mother and not a manikin or a merry-go-round. 'The root meaning of the word wife is weaver. She takes the tangled threads of the family and weaves them into the warp and woof of a home. 'The woman that the man loves the most and the one who will hold him the longest, is the one that he can talk to the best. 'The woman who listens best with eyes like deep, dark wells of love, reflect the shining stars above, will hold her man to the end of the journey. 'In measuring the value of a woman, cake-walking is not to be compared with cake-baking."

REV. ALDEN LEE HILL,
HIGHLAND PARK CHRISTIAN.

"Los Angeles citizens can well afford to study of the first congregation of Christians and emulate its faithfulness. This first body of believers in the closing verses of the second chapter of Acts. This first body of believers in obeying divine teachings, in observing the Lord's Supper, and in serving the Lord's people, who witnessed the Apostles' miracles. They were a thankful folk, who in their meat with gladness and singleness of heart. They practised the grace of benevolence, giving to all 'as every man had need.' This was such a marked trait, that Ananias and Sapphira tried to counterfeit it to their own destruction. Because of this benevolence and the apostolic miracles, this early congregation made a great impression upon the city of Jerusalem and became very popular, 'having favor with all the people.' However, jealous hatred against them arose and they were persecuted. It was a growing church, for the Lord added to the church daily."

DR. W. E. TILGROE,
LAKE AVENUE METHODIST.

"Our troubles in life are much a matter of size. The baby, lured by the light, burns its fingers. The young fellow suspects he is doing a thing of a man and makes a belittling of himself. The girl wants to be pretty and so she paints. Later they all get other ideas, seeing things whole. Tobacco finds few devotees in the morning that count. The other sort rub off. It does not take religion to know a fire will burn. Only a little growing up does it. Men and women learn to look at life in terms of the end and get sense. A student will wait on table that he may be a waiter at 40. Seeing things whole works wonders."

"One says his prayers with a prayer. He prays with the prayer of the one God breaking upon him, he always prays better. The great battle of the day is whether there is a God at all. The form He would have His people one, as He and the Father were one. The church of God is the only church of God. One never sees things whole as when he looks at God."

"The unitary concept of the human race is a wise notion. Tribal, national and racial cleavage will forever hold the brakes on progress. Only planetary thinking has any future. The world is for the folk. 'The Bible says that the cure for pious folly. One would think it divine madness to be in the hands of many of its good friends. That it survives is evidence God has had to do with it. 'The church seen whole is a transcendent vision. To the narrowest people the earth ever bred, said there was to be one fold and one shepherd. The church of God was not born at Pentecost. The church of God began in Eden, with the people of God. 'Modern science is the harvest of seeing the universe whole. The law for one's back yard is law for the farthest edge of things. We know all life as we see things whole. We are always headed for trouble with a quarter-section."

TO POSTMEN, BOTH SUNNY AND GROUCHY

Helms Speaks to Mail Carriers' Association at the First Methodist Church.

In the course of a sermon to the Los Angeles Mail Carriers' Association at the First Methodist Church yesterday, Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Helms spoke in part as follows: "Ye mail carriers of the City of Los Angeles, all hail and welcome! What a mighty army of you. The postman's whistle is heard around the world. It goes, it blows from 15,819 postoffices in the United States. 'Oh, the mail carriers I have known! There was O. G. Everybody called him O. G.—short for 'Old Grouch.' When you took your mail from him you were high scared to death lest he pull a sun on you. And when he was gone everybody took a swallow of vinegar or sucked a pickle to sweeten up on! 'Was a saying on O. G.'s route 'Get in your milk before O. G. comes along, for if his shadow falls on it it's sure to turn sour.' Why be an O. G.?"

"Then there was O. S.—short for 'Old Sun Shine.' Everybody called him that. And be you sure what everybody calls you are To have O.S.S. come along was just like rolling the sun down the street. What a rainbow finger he was. Everybody loved him, and every girl. He was everybody's friend. 'Tell it to O.S.S.' that's what everybody said when anybody had trouble. What a trouble scatterer he was. He put naturally put hope and heart into every breast. 'Somebody smiled a smile today. Somebody chewed a cloud away. Was that somebody you?"

"No life need be little. Every life may be large. No stream from its source flows seaward but that some land is glad. No star ever rose or set without influence somewhere. Oh, the good you mail carriers all may do while you go blowing your postman's whistle around the world. Go—give as you live!"

CHURCH PLANS NEW HOSPITAL.

Backers of the Project Visit Memorial Institution.

Pastor Asserts Fund Has Been Established.

Congregations to Hear Talks on Proposed Building.

Plans for the erection of another hospital in this city became known yesterday when thirty members of the recently organized Christian Church Hospital Association, of which the Rev. S. M. Bernard is president, made an inspection trip to the White Memorial Hospital, the Adventist church institution in Boyle Heights. The trip was made at the conclusion of an address on the Christian church hospital movement by the Rev. Mr. Bernard at the Placeres Boulevard Christian Church. A week ago discussed the same subject at the Vermont Square Christian Church, and he will continue speaking on the topic until he has addressed the congregations of all the twenty churches of that denomination located here.

FUND ESTABLISHED. The Rev. Mr. Bernard said that a hospital building fund has been established and that it is being added to from week to week by the various congregations. He expressed the opinion that sufficient capital to build a hospital can be accumulated within the next two years. "At the White Memorial Hospital, which has been in operation only since 1917, we were told that 48,933 free cases, consultations and clinics were handled in the last twelve months," said the Rev. Mr. Bernard last night.

"The Adventists have interpreters from among their membership to deal with patients, who represent twenty different foreign countries. Five social workers are employed to follow up the hospital cases. 'The Christian Church here has a much larger membership, and the association believes that a hospital can easily be built and maintained by the patronage from congregations aggregating a total of more than 5000 people."

SHORTAGE OF BEDS. The Rev. Mr. Bernard, who was for seven years pastor of the Placeres Boulevard Christian Church, calls attention to the fact that the leading physicians and hospital managers have estimated the existing shortage of hospital accommodations here at 1600 beds. At the White Memorial Hospital, members of the association were shown through the operating rooms, clinic and library and given a clear idea of the cost of service. On Tuesday evening they will hear an address at 1419 South Broadway street by Dr. Norman Sprague. He will discuss present-day hospital needs.

MAIN BANK
FIFTH AND SPRING
SEVENTH ST. BRANCH
SEVENTH AND GRAND

SECURITY TRUST & SAVINGS BANK
SAVINGS COMMERCIAL TRUST
CAPITAL AND SURPLUS FIVE MILLION DOLLARS
MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM
LOS ANGELES

May 23, 1921.

To our Depositors:-

The Security Bank when established 32 years ago was located on North Main Street, not far from the Flax. As the city has grown southward, the Security Bank has moved successively to Second and Main, to Fourth and Spring and 12 years ago to its present location at Fifth and Spring.

The "North End" remains an important part of the business district of Los Angeles. In order to continue to provide adequate banking facilities for its customers who have not moved south, this bank many years ago acquired the Equitable Savings Bank at First and Spring Streets, and made it the Equitable Branch of the Security Trust & Savings Bank. This was for more than a decade this bank's only branch.

The Equitable Branch carries on every line of banking which is to be found at the Main Bank. Sharing in the large assets, careful management and conservative policies of the whole bank, it is, nevertheless, a distinctively North End institution, serving its community as closely as it might were it a local institution, yet serving it better because it is a part of a greater bank.

Though most of the business of the Equitable Branch is with persons and companies whose business concerns are in the North End of the city, special foreign language and foreign exchange facilities have been provided to serve those who speak English imperfectly, or who wish to transact business in European or Asiatic countries. Tellers or attendants at this Branch can speak or write almost any of the languages in which banking business is transacted. To make this foreign service complete, a steamship ticket agency is operated in connection with the Branch, through which tickets may be purchased to or from any port in the world.

The Equitable Branch is therefore an important local institution, serving the needs of its neighborhood thoroughly and carefully.

Yours truly,
J. J. Sartori
President.

BUILDINGS THAT BURCK BUILT

THE WORK OF THE LAWRENCE BURCK CONSTRUCTION CO. FOR THE YEAR 1920

OR more than eighteen years the LAWRENCE BURCK CONSTRUCTION COMPANY has been building in Los Angeles every kind and class of building. During the year 1920 they had finished over 100 buildings. They offer their services to property, and at the lowest price.

The following pages will show you the work of the LAWRENCE BURCK CONSTRUCTION CO. in 1920. They are all in touch with the work you are thinking of building.

"It's a real pleasure to turn out good work for some one who appreciates the best—and says so!"

Lawrence Burck Construction Co. have done first-class building in Los Angeles for so many years that they appreciate good workmanship in any line.

Mr. Burck recently ordered 10,000 folders from Times-Mirror. He was so pleased with the "dummy" our Service Department submitted before the job was started, that he increased the order to 15,000. After seeing proofs, he asked us to begin preparation on a second folder.

We can please you just as well—call 10519 next time you have some printing in mind.

MORE ANSWERED LETTERS.

A Reader: "My bedroom is to be draped in light blue and my furniture is American walnut. What color paint should be used for doors and window sashes? And what color stain for the floor (with small rug)? Also, please tell me what should be used with an old-rose color scheme with ivory bedroom furniture?"

Answer: Ivory woodwork will look best with a light blue color scheme. Stain the floor with a color that will harmonize with the color of the room. For the old-rose color scheme, you should use the woodwork in ivory, stain the floor a neutral brown, have old-rose and white rug, cretonne bureau scarf and table cover to match the valances, and a plain old-rose China silk lamp shade for the small boudoir drop light.

Mrs. G. A.: "What is one to do when the children of friends come to visit, and break one's own children's toys? Is there anything within the realm of politeness that can be said to forestall this roughness and destruction?"

Answer: Why don't you use the new rotation of toys idea as an excuse for putting away the most breakable toys your children possess when such visitors come? This new idea, which mothers are using more and more, is that some of the children's toys should be put away and not brought out again, and it saves the parent buying others.

When you expect your visitors to stay all but the hardest toys. And explain that all the other toys have been put away for a time, according to the new idea, so that they will seem new a little later. You can say you are trying out this idea.

Mrs. A. & R.: "I would appreciate it if you would suggest a novel April centerpiece for the refreshment table at my little girl's birthday party, and would also tell me of some games the children might play." Answer: I am so sorry that your letter reached me too late for me to be of help. But if you will send me your address and a stamp I will be glad to send you the name of a book on games (which will cost, I think, 75 cents), together with the publisher's name. You could have this to use next year, or at any party you might wish to give your little daughter.

A Constant Reader: "Please tell me how to make soap."

Answer: Buy a box of lye and follow the directions on the box.

Four Women: "My three neighbors and I (all young married women) would appreciate suggestions from you about some sort of literary club we could form—just an informal little club without dues, stamps or well-wrapped coins, and the subject of the pattern desired to this address."

Answer: I am deeply interested in your little club and will devote an entire article to suggestions concerning it, next Thursday. Watch for this article. I hope other busy ladies will be helped by this.

BAGPIPE MAN.

An old Scotch folk game, suitable for outdoor or indoor playing. One of the players chosen to be the Bagpipe Man stands before the others and recites or sings these lines: "I am the bonnie Bagpipe Man; I come from a bonny Highland Clan—Now give us a skirl for the Bagpipe Man."

The rhymes can be sung to the air of "Bunker Hill."

The first player in line calls out the name of a musical instrument, say the flute, and the Bagpipe Man must respond instantly by going through the motions of playing a flute, and chanting: "I am the bonnie Bagpipe Man. But I'll play the flute as well as I can."

The next player calls out another instrument, and so on down the line. If the Bagpipe Man does not respond promptly, or makes the wrong motions in playing the instrument chosen, the other players call out: "Pause!" (false) and chant together:

"Get you into the Lowland Clan—Up with another Bagpipe Man!" He joins the rank and the one who has called the last instrument becomes Bagpipe Man.

The game should be begun by selecting well-known instruments, such as the piano, violin, harp, flute, organ, cornet, etc., and afterward choosing less familiar music-makers, such as the Chinese tom-tom, the pipes of Pan, the cymbals, the bagpipe, etc.

POLITICS. THE WATCHMAN.

FRIEND OF POLITICAL THOUGHT AND ACTION.

By the Sentry on His Beat.

The election of Mayor George E. Cryer is advocated by the United Church Brotherhood of Los Angeles. The UCB recommended for the coming elections of the brotherhood was ratified by the central committee meeting at the Temple Baptist Church. The brotherhood represents forty-two churches of the city. Other candidates were endorsed as follows:

For Board of Education: C. E. Seaman, Egerton Shore, C. E. Seaman, J. M. Jesse York, Melville Doster, M. C. Bettenger and C. J. McCormick.

For City Council: Robert M. Allan, Boudin Boudin, Frank L. Cleveland, O. P. Conaway, Ralph L. Criswell, Frederick C. Langdon, W. A. Roberts and W. J. Sanborn.

"Let's go!" is the watchword at the Hotel Stowell for the final and most exciting two weeks of the municipal campaign. The Retail Grocers' Association, the United Church Brotherhood, the Federation of State Societies and other powerful organizations which have endorsed Mr. Cryer will devote every energy during the remaining days of the campaign to bringing out a large vote on June 7, in order to give Bullock a record-breaking plurality. Confident of Mr. Cryer's election, these organizations, as well as the UCB, are determined that, in the light of the special need of a clear, business-like administration of the city's business during the next two years, Mr. Cryer shall go into office with the full force of an overwhelming vote that will add strength to the new Mayor's efforts to give Los Angeles good government.

Business men of the city are much amused at the efforts of Mayor Snyder's supporters to claim for the Mayor credit that belongs to the City Council for the coming reduction of the 2 1/2 per cent occupational tax. Representatives of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, the Retail Grocers' Association and other organizations repeatedly urged the Council to reduce the tax and were finally successful. The revised license ordinance will be presented to the Council this morning, and will take effect July 1. The Mayor has no more to do with the change than the Governor of California or the Secretary of the Navy. "We should worry about the facts! Anything to get the vote!" is the slogan of the day at the Snyder camp.

Councilman O. Conaway. It is predicted, may prepare right now for the shock of his life when the votes are counted on the night of June 7, for he has been losing strength steadily since the primaries, as the voters have come to learn the facts which show his weak record in the City Council. A number of prominent better government organizations have dropped Conaway from their lists and his name was glaringly absent from the ticket endorsed by the Association for Betterment of Public Service. Conaway, it will be remembered, voted not alone, but seconded in 1918 the ordinance authorizing Bullock to build over St. Vincent's Place, only to get aboard Hearst's band wagon, along with Mayor Snyder, when the Examiner and the Evening Herald opened fire on Bullock's because the owners of the store declined to advertise in the Hearst organs.

The Association for Betterment of Public Service ticket is as follows:

For Board of Education: Grace B. Ashley, Melville Doster, Martha C. Harmon, C. H. McCormick, C. E. Seaman, Egerton Shore and M. Jesse York (7).

For City Council: Robert M. Allan, Albert B. Conrad, Ralph L. Criswell, Ida Works Darling, Frederick C. Langdon, Walter Mallard, W. C. Mushet, W. J. Sanborn and R. S. ("Cupid") Sparks (9).

Individual endorsements for George E. Cryer for Mayor last week include ones from Georgia P. Bullock, prominent local attorney, Mrs. Emma L. Reed and Mrs. Charles A. McKelvey, well-known club women, Lucetta H. Norman, woman attorney, and Assemblyman Edwin Baker of the Seventy-fifth District. Georgia Bullock wrote to Mr. Cryer:

"Permit me, Mr. Cryer, to extend to you my heartfelt endorsement of your candidacy for Mayor of Los Angeles. By reason of your broad experience as an executive in public affairs and your academic and legal qualifications, you possess the ability of the highest degree, to direct and execute public policies and business."

"Particularly, Mr. Cryer, you are valuable to this Commonwealth in your vast knowledge of law pertaining to public utilities and municipal ordinances, and when you sign a document as the chief executive of the city of Los Angeles, your signature will carry with it the weight of your specialized knowledge and keen understanding. I truly believe the people of Los Angeles are thoroughly aroused to your intrinsic value and that we will be fortunate enough to see you as the next and the best Mayor Los Angeles has ever had."

The Los Angeles County Medical Association and the organizations who on the other hand, are pledged to campaign for legislation which they classify as a question of the heading of "medical freedom measures" have given notice that they will be active during the present municipal campaign. The local association of physicians has sent to all candidates a questionnaire to learn the attitude of those seeking city offices on public health issues. On the other side of the question, Marshall Stimson, former State Senator William E. Brown and other speakers have been active in making addresses before civic organizations, contending that health instruction in the schools and strong health departments in the city, county, State and national governments, constitute an immense, useless outlay of public funds besides endangering individual rights.

GIRL ACCUSES PEACE OFFICER.

Emergency Patrolman Cotter
Discharged by Chief.

Tell Conflicting Stories of Rooming-house Attack.

Struggle Reported; Official
Jailed; Won't Talk.

Accused by Miss Evelyn Edleson, aged 24 years, of 1617 South Flower street, of having attacked her in a rooming-house at 784 1/2 North Spring street shortly after midnight yesterday, Joe Cotter, emergency patrolman, was yesterday morning placed in the City Jail. L. L. Guilberg, proprietor of the rooming-house, Fred Ernest, a roomer, and J. R. Fallon, who stated that he had been driving about North Broadway with the girl in an automobile, identified Cotter as the officer seen entering the rooming-house with the young woman. Cotter, in his cell, refused to talk. The girl's story, in which she stated to the police that she had been forcibly taken into the rooming-house by the officer, conflicts with that of Guilberg, who says she entered his place without protest.

Following a thorough investigation Chief Pendleton ordered Cotter discharged from the police force. According to the Chief, several officers reported to him that Cotter had been intoxicated while on duty in the neighborhood of 785 North High street, had used abusive language to James Peluso in the presence of women and children, and had solicited $10 from a man of the name of W. J. Cowles, in return for which he said he would have a charge of violation of traffic against Cowles dropped.

STORIES DIFFER.

The first notice of the Edleson affair came to the police when R. A. Mahan, a Southern Pacific towerman at Naad and North Main streets, telephoned that a girl giving the name of Evelyn Edleson had called to call a taxi and send her to her home as she had just been assaulted by a police officer.

Police Sgt. Stuten, Lieut. Jackson and Detective Barnes went to the girl's home and she told them she had been driving in an automobile with J. R. Fallon and that they had engine trouble on North Broadway about three blocks north of the Plaza. She said a police officer, whom she identified as Cotter, stepped out of the car, and she, the girl, took her into the rooming-house on North Spring street and there mistreated her.

J. Fallon told a somewhat different story. He said in a signed statement that he and Miss Edleson had been to see a number of friends coming out they met Officer Cotter, his identity then unknown to them, and after talking for a few minutes the three got into the front seat of his car and drove about the north part of town.

STRUGGLE IN ROOM.

About three blocks north of the Plaza they stopped, he said, and the officer and the girl got out of the car. She said that she would be back soon, he stated. The officer

AS SKIRTS RISE MISHAPS DROP.

Fewer Accidents on Cars, Say
Officials of Companies.

Dress Above Knee Saves Legs
Being Cut Off Below.

Generally Agreed Wearers of Shorts Show Good Form.

Blue law enthusiasts and any others who cling fondly to the opinion that short skirts are responsible for the downfall of a good many girls would do well to scan the reports which have been compiled by

Los Angeles Railway claim agents since the short skirt had come into vogue.

Some of the street-car companies that step accidents have been reduced one-half since women took to economizing on skirt material.

Claim adjusters are delighted over the result. They insist that it is better to have the skirts cut off just above the knees than to have the legs cut off just below the knees.

It used to be that only an occasional woman had a high instep,
but now nearly all of them have.
They can step in, on high, without the slightest difficulty. The higher the step, the higher the skirt!

ACCENT ON PRETTY.

Women who are buying them think that the short skirts of today come pretty high. Men who are admiring them think that the skirts go pretty high—with the accent on pretty.

It is quite generally agreed that those who wear them show good form.

J. D. Jeffery of the Public Relations Bureau of the Los Angeles Railway, declared yesterday he is thinking of starting a no-accident-week campaign, with the idea of satisfying female patrons to wear one-piece bathing suits. He says that women who wear long, floppy skirts are usually the ones who are injured for damages, because of injuries sustained while stepping on and off the cars.

Checking back over the step accidents reported in recent months,
A. A. McRoberts, general claim agent of the street-car company, declared that the short skirt is reducing them nearly twenty a month.

For example, in September, 1920, there were 147 women injured in stepping accidents. In April, 1921, there were only eighty-six injured.
